

INTERNATIONAL AS ENGLISH LANGUAGE EN02

Unit 2 Language and society

Mark scheme

January 2026

Version: 1.0 Final

Mark schemes are prepared by the Lead Assessment Writer and considered, together with the relevant questions, by a panel of subject teachers. This mark scheme includes any amendments made at the standardisation events which all associates participate in and is the scheme which was used by them in this examination. The standardisation process ensures that the mark scheme covers the students' responses to questions and that every associate understands and applies it in the same correct way. As preparation for standardisation each associate analyses a number of students' scripts. Alternative answers not already covered by the mark scheme are discussed and legislated for. If, after the standardisation process, associates encounter unusual answers which have not been raised they are required to refer these to the Lead Examiner.

It must be stressed that a mark scheme is a working document, in many cases further developed and expanded on the basis of students' reactions to a particular paper. Assumptions about future mark schemes on the basis of one year's document should be avoided; whilst the guiding principles of assessment remain constant, details will change, depending on the content of a particular examination paper.

Further copies of this mark scheme are available from oxfordaqa.org.uk

Copyright information

OxfordAQA retains the copyright on all its publications. However, registered schools/colleges for OxfordAQA are permitted to copy material from this booklet for their own internal use, with the following important exception: OxfordAQA cannot give permission to schools/colleges to photocopy any material that is acknowledged to a third party even for internal use within the centre.

Copyright © 2026 OxfordAQA International Examinations and its licensors. All rights reserved.

International English language mark scheme

How to mark

Aims

When you are marking your allocation of scripts your main aims should be to:

- recognise and identify the achievements of students
- place students in the appropriate mark band and in the appropriate part of that mark band (high, low, middle) for each assessment objective
- record your judgements with brief notes, annotations and comments that are relevant to the mark scheme and make it clear to other examiners how you have arrived at the numerical mark awarded for each assessment objective
- put into a rank order the achievements of students (not to grade them – that is done later using the rank order that your marking has produced)
- ensure comparability of assessment for all students, regardless of question or examiner.

Approach

It is important to be open-minded and positive when marking scripts.

The specification recognises the variety of experiences and knowledge that students will have. It encourages them to study language in a way that is relevant to them. The questions have been designed to give them opportunities to discuss what they have found out about language. It is important to assess the quality of what the student offers.

Do not mark scripts as though they were mere shadows of some platonic ideal (or the answer you would have written). The mark schemes have been composed to assess quality of response and not to identify expected items of knowledge.

Assessment objectives

This component requires students to:

AO1: Demonstrate understanding of methods, terminology, concepts and issues in English language.

AO2: Analyse how meanings are shaped in a range of texts and data.

AO3: Demonstrate ability to use English in different ways.

The marking grids

The specification has generic marking grids for each assessment objective that is customised with indicative content for individual tasks. These have been designed to allow assessment of the range of knowledge, understanding and skills that the specification demands.

Within each assessment objective there are five broad levels representing different levels of achievement. Do not think of levels equalling grade boundaries.

On the left hand-side of the mark scheme, in bold, are the generic descriptors that identify the performance characteristics at five distinct levels.

On the right-hand side are statements of indicative content. These give examples of the kind of things students might do that would exemplify the level. They are neither exhaustive nor required – they are simply indicative of what would appear at this level. You will find that they sometimes indicate areas of content that can be handled with increasing sophistication and subtlety. You will also find statements which only characterise work at the bottom or top of the range.

Depending on the part of the examination, the levels will have different mark ranges assigned to them. This will reflect the different weighting of assessment objectives in particular tasks and across the examination as a whole. You may be required to give different marks to bands for different assessment objectives.

Using the grids

These levels of response mark schemes are broken down into five levels, each of which has descriptors. The descriptors for the level show the performance characteristics of the level. There is the same number of marks in each level for an individual assessment objective. The number of marks per level will vary depending upon the number of marks allocated to the various assessment objectives covered by a particular question.

Having familiarised yourself with the descriptors and indicative content, read through the answer and annotate it (as instructed below) to identify the qualities that are being looked for and that it shows. You can now check the levels and award a mark.

Step 1 Determine a level

Start at the lowest level of the mark scheme and use it as a ladder to see whether the answer meets the descriptors for that level. The descriptors for the level indicate the different qualities that might be seen in the student's answer for that level. If it meets all the descriptors for the lowest level then go to the next one and decide if it meets this level, and so on, until you have a match between the level descriptors and the answer. With practice and familiarity you will find that for better answers you will be able to skip through the lower levels of the mark scheme quickly.

When assigning a level you should look at the overall quality of the answer and not look to pick holes in small and specific parts of the answer where the student has not performed quite as well as the rest. If the answer covers different aspects of different levels of the mark scheme you should use a best-fit approach for defining the level and then use the variability of the response to help decide the mark within the level; ie if the response fulfils most but not all of level 3 with a small amount of level 4 material, it would be placed in level 3 but be awarded a mark near the top of the level because of the level 4 content.

Step 2 Determine a mark

Once you have assigned a level you need to decide on the mark.

It is often best to start in the middle of the level's mark range and then check and adjust. If there is a lot of indicative content fully identifiable in the work you need to give the highest mark in the level. If only some is identifiable or it is only partially fulfilled, then give the lower mark.

The exemplar materials used during standardisation will also help. There will be an answer in the standardising materials that will correspond with each level of the mark scheme. This answer will have been awarded a mark by the Lead Examiner. You can compare the student's answer with the example to determine if it is of the same standard, better or worse than the example. You can then use this to allocate a mark for the answer based on the Lead Examiner's mark on the example.

You may well need to read back through the answer as you apply the mark scheme to clarify points and assure yourself that the level and the mark are appropriate.

In addition to the generic descriptors (presented in bold text), paper specific indicative descriptors (presented in plain text) are provided as a guide for examiners. These are not intended to be exhaustive and you must credit other valid points.

An answer that contains nothing of relevance to the question must be awarded no marks.

Annotating scripts

It is vital that the way you arrive at a mark should be recorded on the script. This will help you with making accurate judgements and it will help any subsequent markers to identify how you are thinking.

Where?

- in the body of the script
- in the margin
- at the end of each answer

What annotations?

Section A

AO1

Ticks placed in the body of the script at the point of credit:

- single tick for Level 1, Level 2 and Level 3 credit – ✓
- double tick for Level 4 credit – ✓✓
- triple tick for Level 5 credit – ✓✓✓
- ? to indicate questionable application of terminology
- ✗ to indicate an error in labelling

AO2

Stamps placed in the margin at the point of credit:

- L1, L2, L3, L4, L5 to indicate level of attainment and

to indicate general discussion

to indicate identification

to indicate interpretation of a point

to indicate an analytical point

to indicate a developed point

to indicate a linguistic example to indicate knowledge of scholarship to indicate a missing example or linguistic label

to indicate questionable points or unclear expression

Written comments

A comment box at the end of each answer for each AO.

Section B

AO1:

Stamps placed in the margin at the point of credit:

- L1, L2, L3, L4, L5 to indicate level of attainment and

 to indicate general discussion

 to indicate identification

 to indicate interpretation of a point

 to indicate an analytical point

 to indicate a developed point

 to indicate a linguistic example

 to indicate a missing example

 to indicate questionable points or unclear expression

 to indicate loss of focus on the question

AO3:

Ticks placed in the body of the script at the point of comment:

- single tick for Level 1, Level 2 and Level 3 credit – ✓
- double tick for Level 4 credit – ✓✓
- triple tick for Level 5 credit – ✓✓✓

Written comments:

A comment box at the end of each answer for each AO.

You should write a summative comment at the end for each assessment objective.

Please do not write negative comments about students' work or their alleged aptitudes; this is unprofessional and it impedes a positive marking approach.

0 1

Text A, on pages 2 and 3, is a series of posts from James's blog page. James is a member of PADI, the Professional Association of Diving Instructors.

Examine how the producer of Text A uses language to:

- present the topic
- express his roles
- express his identity
- influence others.

[25 marks]

AO1: Demonstrate understanding of methods, terminology, concepts and issues in English language

AO1 in the context of this question focuses on relevant methods and terminology.

Level/ Marks	Performance characteristics	Indicative content These are examples of ways students' work might exemplify the performance characteristics in the question above. They indicate possible content and how it can be treated at different levels.
Level 5 9–10	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • apply linguistic methods and terminology, identifying patterns and complexities • apply different levels of language analysis in an integrated way, recognising how they are connected • apply levels of language analysis with rare errors. 	Students are likely to describe features such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • discourse structure of a personal narrative, eg organisation of the content addressing first experiences of diving, first diving session with Samuel and Samuel's qualification • temporal references to shape the narrative and illustrate different stages of James's own and Samuel's experiences with diving, eg 'the very first time', 'always', 'first ever', 'all eternity' • strategies and patterns to frame the narrative, eg recollection, evaluation, shift of perspective • variety of sentence types, including elliptical and non-standard sentences, eg 'I remember it like it was yesterday', 'His whole family will soon be qualified and I hope...', 'And that I do them credit'.
Level 4 7–8	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • apply linguistic methods and terminology with precision and detail • apply two or more levels of language analysis • apply levels of language analysis with occasional errors. 	Students are likely to describe features such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • variety of descriptive techniques, eg noun phrases, abstract nouns, modifiers • mixed formality, eg colloquial 'absolutely smashed it', 'I'm going soft' alongside more formal register, eg 'they say we are in the transformation business', 'aquatic realm' • balanced phrasing, eg seriousness... whilst keeping it fun', 'pride at his achievement and sadness...'

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> verb tense, mood and aspect, eg past tense, modals to indicate future aspect.
Level 3 5–6	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> apply linguistic methods and terminology consistently and appropriately label features that have value for the task label features with more accuracy than inaccuracy. 	Students are likely to describe features such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> word classes to describe James's feelings about diving and his students positive language choices to describe diving, teaching and students' experiences naming and pronoun use, eg 'young Samuel', 'Alberto my friend', 'I', 'me', 'mine', 'they' listing and exaggeration techniques.
Level 2 3–4	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> use linguistic methods and terminology inconsistently and sometimes without value for the task generalise about language use with limited/unclear evidence. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> make reference to words and phrases about the topic refer to textual features, eg date stamp, pictures, coloured typeface, like/comment buttons quote imprecisely to illustrate descriptions.
Level 1 1–2	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> quote or identify features of language without linguistic description present material with limited organisation. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> quote examples without any comment paraphrase the text.
0	Nothing relevant written.	Nothing relevant written.

AO2: Analyse how meanings are created in a range of texts and data.
Level/ Marks	Performance characteristics	Indicative content These are examples of ways students' work might exemplify the performance characteristics in the question above. They indicate possible content and how it can be treated at different levels.
Level 5 13–15	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • explore use of language and representations according to context. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • explore ideas about James's personal and professional self-presentation as an avid diver and an enthusiastic instructor • explore ideas about James's presentation of his personal goals and achievements rather than providing information about diving • explore ideas about James's representation of diving as more than just a sport but as something profound and transformative • explore ideas about the use of social media to create relationships, connect with followers / friends / students and for promotion of James's diving business.
Level 4 10–12	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • analyse how language choices create meanings and representations • analyse how aspects of context work together to affect language use. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • analyse James's presentation of himself as a successful diving instructor • analyse ideas about the use of personal experiences to inspire and motivate a wide audience • analyse positioning of audience as interested in diving and/or following James's experiences.
Level 3 7–9	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • interpret significance of specific choices of language according to context • link specific language choices with an aspect of context. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • interpret ideas about purposes to inform, entertain and inspire • interpret descriptive and motivational language choices • interpret ideas about the use of a blog to reach a wide audience • interpret language choices in a linear or sequential way.
Level 2 4–6	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • identify distinctive features of language and significant aspects of context. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • offer a personal response to the text • identify the broad purpose of the text • identify text producer(s) in general terms • identify audience in broad terms.
Level 1 1–3	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • paraphrase or describe content of texts • misunderstand text or context. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • give factual information about the text • show literal understanding of information • rely on lengthy quotations.
0	Nothing relevant written.	Nothing relevant written.

0 2

How far might an individual's identity influence their language use?

In your answer you should refer to relevant ideas from language study, such as:

- the idea that individuals may present different identities in different situations or when performing different roles
- examples of language that may be associated with different identities or roles
- factors other than an individual's identity that may influence language use.

[25 marks]AO1: Demonstrate understanding of methods, terminology, concepts and issues in International English Language

AO1 in the context of this question focuses on relevant concepts and issues.

Level/ Marks	Performance characteristics	Indicative content These are examples of ways students' work might exemplify the performance characteristics in the question above. They indicate possible content and how it can be treated at different levels.
Level 5 13–15	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • demonstrate an overview of issues • explore different views, approaches and interpretations. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • explore how people may present different identities depending on the role they are performing • explore links between personal identities/roles and other factors that may influence language use, eg gender, social groups, occupation, power • offer perceptive, relevant and specific examples of language use • refer to scholarship accurately and specifically • use terminology accurately, with understanding.
Level 4 10–12	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • identify different views, approaches and interpretations. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • explain how different language choices may be appropriate when performing particular roles • explain how people may make particular language choices to express individual/group/social/professional identities • offer relevant and specific examples of language use • refer to scholarship accurately • use terminology, mostly accurately, showing understanding.

Level 3 7–9	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • show knowledge of relevant concepts and issues. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • recognise that people may use language differently depending on the different roles they perform • recognise that the language a person uses can reflect their personal identity • offer a relevant but straightforward account of how personal identity or the roles a person performs may influence language use • give relevant examples of language use at a general level • refer to scholarship in general ways • use terminology with partial accuracy and partial understanding.
Level 2 4–6	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • show familiarity with the area of study. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • discuss ideas about personal identity and roles generally, with some reference to language • give limited, or very generalised examples of language use • attempt reference to scholarship, but with limited accuracy or relevance • attempt to use terminology, but with limited accuracy and understanding.
Level 1 1–3	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • discuss issues anecdotally without specialist knowledge. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • discuss ideas about personal identity and roles very generally or anecdotally, with no reference to language • exemplify language use with little or no discussion about personal identity and/or roles • use terminology rarely or inaccurately.
0	Nothing relevant written.	Nothing relevant written.

AO3: Demonstrate ability to use English in different ways
Level/ Marks	Performance characteristics	Indicative content These are examples of ways students' work might exemplify the performance characteristics in the question above. They indicate possible content and how it can be treated at different levels.
Level 5 9–10	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • use form expertly • use and sustain register, effective for context • show outstanding technical control. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • guide the reader through a line of argument by using clear signposting • make effective connections between points and paragraphs • write with clarity and accuracy throughout.
Level 4 7–8	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • use form convincingly • use register, effective for context • show skilful technical control. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • demonstrate a line of argument • cover points in a well-organised way • write with clarity and accuracy, showing only occasional errors.
Level 3 5–6	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • use form competently • use register, mainly effectively, for context • show competent technical control. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • communicate with clear topics and paragraphs • group points in a logical way • write with general clarity and accuracy.
Level 2 3–4	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • use form with some lack of control • use register appropriate for context at times • show basic technical control. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • attempt an essay format, with an uneven result • achieve a formal style but inconsistently • show lapses in clarity and accuracy.
Level 1 1–2	Students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • use form limited to simple elements • shape language broadly for context • show limited technical control. 	Students are likely to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • make some points but with little or no organisation • attempt a formal style, with limited success • lack clarity and accuracy, impeding communication.
0	Nothing relevant written.	Nothing relevant written.